SCHOLARSHIP

Research Interests

My research program focuses broadly on child behavior disorders and more specifically on Parenting and Behavioral Parent Training interventions. Previous publications have addressed engagement and dropout from BPT, emotional reactivity in and peer attitudes toward those with ADHD, adherence to treatment, and various methodological issues. My research continues to explore the training and implementation of specific parenting skills, such as time-out, labeled praise, etc., as well as gaps between parent knowledge and actual behavior, and other issues related to improving parenting.
